Special Train Remained Here Eighteen Minutes Today.

The President Plainly Showing Effect of His Accident Spoke Briefly to Crowd at B. & O. Station --President's Reasons for the Trip.

The special train bearing President Roosevelt and party arrived in Newark at 12:48 and left at 1:06 o'clock this afternoon, there being a stop of 18 minutes while the entire train was freshly supplied with water and ice.

There was a large crowd of Newark's citizens at the B. & O. depot to greet the head of the nation. As the special came to a stop and the President was seen on the rear car a hearty cheer was given. The special consisted of the Pullman cars Manhattan, Atlantic, Clarion, Xenia and Riva, and was in charge of Conductor John Doyle, with that old and trusted engineer, John May, at the throttle. In the cab with the engineer was Fireman Richard Vernon. This Newark crew will take the train to Cincinnati.

As soon as the wheels stopped, the rear platform of the car in which the President sat, was surrounded by several secret service men who made it impossible to get near the Chief Executive, who even made his appearance, Panama hat in hand. Secretary Cortelyou was standing on the platform when the train pulled in and remained there until it left.

As the President appeared he was given a rousing cheer to which he responded by bowing, and spying a group of Spanish-American War Veterans, he shouted, "Hello, comrades." His face showed much more plainly than his given to believe, the marks of the recent trolley-car accident in which the President had such a narrow escape. The right side of the face, the right cheek and jaw down under the chin, and the neck are badly swollen and a dark purplish hue, plainly visible as far as the eye can be seen. The swelling is so great that it has a noticeable effect on his speaking, making him talk as though the effort was painful and that he had his mouth full. Otherwise his bronzed face and sturdy stocky figure bespoke perfect health.

He said: "My Friends and Fellow Citizens:-- I am glad to be here today, and I expect soon to come back to Ohio. I am now going to Chattanooga, to attend the Firemen's Association, as I have a warm spot for the railroad men, and have always sworn by them. I thank you all for coming to see me, and I may be pardoned if I especially thank my comrades, the veterans of the late war."

The speech was greeted with cheers and cries of "That's right, Teddy. You're all right."

Several persons near the president reached up to shake his hand, but their extended arms were unceremoniously brushed aside by the secret service men, noticing which the President explained "I must ask you to excuse me from shaking hands as if I shook hands with one I would have to with all. It would not be fair otherwise, and I haven't the time to do that."

One of the party said the trip from Cincinnati was absolutely devoid of incident, except that lunch was announced after they left Clay City, which they did at 12:04.

There are twenty people on the train, including newspaper men, artists, photographers, detectives, and Superintendent Batchelder, who will go to Cincinnati.

President Roosevelt stood on the platform waving his hat until the train pulled out of sight.

PURPOSE

Of President's Trip to Aid Cause of Cuban Reciprocity by Talking to The People.

Washington, Sept. 6.—President Roosevelt's principal reason for making the New England, Southern and Northwestern tours is to aid the cause of Cuban reciprocity. He hopes to get in closer touch with the people and the members of congress and is enough of an optimist to believe that he will so far attain this end that when congress meets again he will have a majority instead of a minority in favor of Cuban relief.

"The New England trip has had its beneficial effects along this line" says a close friend of the President.

"This has been gained more by personal exchange of views than by anything he has said" on the platform. During the tour he has had confidential talks with a great many members of congress and senators who differed with him on the Cuban relief question and he believes that he has succeeded in changing their opinions. It does a whole lot of good to talk to a man in his own town or in his own house. He warms up there in spite of himself."

Spoke in Wheeling.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 6.—The Presidential party arrived in Wheeling on time, 8:30. The President spent a comfortable night. Senator Scott, of W. Va., joined the President at Benwood Junction, four miles from the city.

President Roosevelt spoke from the balcony of the McClure House to a gathering of about 5,000 people. His remarks were largely devoted to the trust question. He reiterated his belief that a constitutional amendment would be necessary to deal with the great corporations. The President left on his Southern journey at 10:30.

A mysterious explosion was heard at the beginning of the fire.

DR. VIRCHOW DEAD

The Famous German Scientist and Renowned Pathologist and Anthropologist Dies at Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Professor Rudolf Virchow the celebrated German pathologist and anthropologist died. In Virchow's death, Germany loses one of her greatest scholars and scientists. He also made himself felt in political life, and was a well known figure in Berlin. He was born in the little village of Schivelbein in Pomerania, October 13, 1821. At an early age he went to Berlin to study medicine and in 1849 was appointed professor of pathological anatomy at Wunzburg. During the political changes which ended in the establishment of the present German empire, he was active and his speeches and pamphlets obtained wide circulation. Since 1862 he was a member of the Prussian house of deputies. His greatest fame perhaps rests upon the fact that he was a popularizer of science. He brought the great discoveries of his day down to the general understanding and encouraged researches and study among all classes of the community.

STRIKERS

ARE RETURNING TO WORK IN WEST VIRGINIA

Do Not Wait Till Monday, the Day For Resuming—in Poor Shape For Winter.

Keystone, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Since Friday morning fully 2,000 striking miners have returned to work in the flat top and Elkhorn coal fields, stating that they did not care to wait until Monday the day specified at the Keystone meeting to begin work. The miners in this region are in rather poor shape for the approaching winter and seem desirous of taking advantage of every day possible to work. This will be the biggest day in the Norfolk and Western Coal field since the beginning of the strike. In the Elkhorn region several mines are in operation today to their fullest capacity.

Hundreds of miners are today moving their household effects from the tents on the mountain sides back into the company houses, the homes from which they were evicted since the strike was declared and many mother shed tears of joy as she assisted in carrying her scanty effects back to the little home again.

GAME

Of War Comes To An End Today.

Grand Review Scheduled For Afternoon.

MANEUVERS HAVE GIVEN A PRACTICAL TEST

TO THE GUNS AND NEW PIECES

Signal Corps Had Trouble With Balloon—Weaknesses in Fortifications are Revealed.

Army Headquarters, Fort Trumbull, Conn., Sept. 6.—The war game between the army and navy will close at noon today and unless Admiral Higginson does something unexpected, his attack on the Narragansett defenses will be the final battle of the war. All of Higginson's fleet is located this morning in the vicinity of Newport.

The war closes today with a grand review this afternoon when the ships will pass all the forts that have been attacked, beginning with Fort Rodman and ending with Fort Terry. There will be no salutes fired as the ships pass in review. General MacArthur will visit Admiral Higginson on his flagship after the review. Tomorrow the troops brought from other posts will be sent home and the vessels of the fleet will be ordered to the navy yards for inspection before the winter cruises.

The real war is soon to commence when the board of arbitration meets to make its reports and decisions. The army claim general victories almost without exception, while the navy maneuvers through, have given a thorough practical test to the workings of guns and the action of many pieces equally positive of their success. The of untried mechanism.

The signal corps have done excellent work and only record a single failure. That was the war balloon. The signal men could never get it up and when it did get above the ground it dragged the whole detachment of men after.

Weaknesses have been revealed in the fortifications by Higginson's foxy moves and they will be corrected but whenever the time comes for two such forces as the army and navy to join hands in war against some nation, the enemy will realize that there is added truth to General Sherman saying "War is Hell."

COSHOCOTON

Is Proud of Winning Fine Silk Flag Offered by Newark Elks—Flag On Exhibition.

(Coshocoton Age.)

Coshocoton usually marches in the front rank when it is away from home. That was true of the Elks at Newark Thursday. They were not only the favorites of the crowds who lined the streets when the parade was passing, but when the flag was presented the beautiful trophy was awarded Coshocoton lodge.

It was the same meeting of Elks. During the week a carnival was in progress, and Thursday was the big day. A handsome silk flag valued at $75 was offered the lodge having the largest percentage of its membership in line.

The Elks are delighted with their victory and praise the people of Newark for their open handed hospitality. They spent an enjoyable day, and they came home with the most kindly feelings toward the boys who wear the antlers in the neighboring city.

The flag is new and very beautiful. It has been adopted by hundreds of people who have seen it in the window of Callahan & Callahan on Main where it is on exhibition.

Durand, M., Sept. 6.—Fire this morning burned the freight shed of Grand Trunk and Ann Arbor railways and burned 50 cars standing in yards. The fire has stalled all trains. Loss $17,000.

REAL TRAGEDY

Woman Shoots to Kill Man on the Stage and Afterwards She Commits Suicide.

New York, Sept. 6.—Julia Pakey, an actress has shot Julius Bardos on the stage. The couple had been engaged but Bardos' affection had cooled and he had given up his fiancee. In the play Julia has to shoot Julius who acted as her sweetheart. Bullets were placed in the revolver instead of blank cartridges with fatal result. Afterward Miss Pakey committed suicide by opening her veins.

PATHETIC SCENE

Death Bed Marriage at Delaware Results in Groom Falling Dead on His Pillow.

Delaware, O., Sept. 6.—A pathetic scene took place at the deathbed of William Raines, a young business man of this city. He and Miss Eva Miller were engaged to be married soon, but the groom-elect fell ill of lung trouble and when it was seen that his condition was hopeless it was decided to hold the marriage immediately. A license was secured and a minister sent for, but before the vows could be taken, Raines fell back on his pillow, dead.

A MURDER

In Columbus is the Result of a Quarrel Over Dice—Murderer Under Arrest.

Columbus, Sept. 6.—Floyd Johnson, of Lancaster, O., who had charge of Ben Potts and other race horses owned by Geo. Snyder, of Columbus, was murdered at an early hour this morning by Walter Hodge of Toledo. Both the murderer and his victim are about 20 years old. They met at the Palace saloon. Charles Pierce was with Johnson. The three quarreled over dice. Johnson was stabbed in the neck and died soon after. Hodge is under arrest. He claims self defense.

FARMERS

FEEL OUTRAGED AT HUNTING PARTIES

Though They Didn't Set Dogs on the Railway Officials With Young Teddy Roosevelt.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 6.—There is no truth in the sensational story that the farmers of South Dakota set their dogs upon young "Teddy" Roosevelt nor have they shown their displeasure in any way.

An especial effort has been made in this vicinity by citizens of all political and religious creed to enforce the game laws. Northwestern Railway officials have been here to hunt many times before and they have driven across fields damaging flax and corn and late small grain without making any sort of restitution. Eastern sportsmen make it a point to be on the ground ready for action on August 31, and usually so many of them that the farmers have no chance. Populists and Republican farmers alike have posted notices to check hunting on their farms, but these were aimed no more at Teddy than the obscurest hunter that might come here. The farmers simply decided to band together and prohibit all transient hunters especially Northwestern railway officials, who largely make up young Roosevelt's party, from hunting upon their land. The feeling against the railroad men is strong because they are old offenders.

The accidental discharge of young Teddy's gun, which came near killing one of the hunting party, proved to be a feature that caused no little comment. The highest record the party has made was killing 17 prairie chickens in one day.

The stairway leading to the tower of the Philadelphia city hall contains 588 steps, and is said to be the tallest continuous stairway in the world.

EVACUATION

Of the Island of Martinique May be Necessary

By the Continued Eruptions of Mt. Pelee--French Government's Enormous Task in Undertaking Removal of So Large a Population.

Paris, Sept. 6.—This morning the Minister of Colonies conferred with Senator Knight and Deputy Clement, of Martinique, regarding the measures that should be taken to save the survivors of Carbet, Ajoupa Bouillon, Grand Reviere and Morne Rouge, the towns of Martinique devastated by the recent eruption of Mount Pelee.

Senator Knight, after the conference was interviewed but declined to discuss the results of the conference which he said, would be officially communicated later. He said: "We are ignorant of the details of the present situation but evidently the inhabitants of the island are panic stricken. We are now particularly concerned regarding the population of Fort De France, which numbers 160,000.

"In sudden danger, it would be impossible to save them in a short time. We therefore consider that the question of evacuation should be seriously faced."

Paris, Sept. 6.—The complete evacuation of Martinique is not considered unless extended activity of Mt. Pelee threatens regions of the island yet untouched. If necessary, however, France will buy land elsewhere and colonize the refugees from Martinique and take all of the people away from that place.

APPALLING

MAY BE CONSEQUENCES OF MONT. PEELE'S ERUPTION

Liable to Produce Tidal Wave Over Chain of Islands Destroying Half Million People.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—"I am greatly alarmed at the cases of renewed activity of the Martinique and St. Vincent volcanoes," said Louis H. Ayme, United States consul at Guadeloupe, who is in Chicago on sick leave.

"Should Mont Pelee blow its head off the loss of life consequent upon the production of a great tidal wave would be appalling. With Pelee as a center, a chain of islands extends northwestward embracing a population of some 750,000 persons. Almost without exception the cities are along the coasts and but slight elevation above the sea. A tidal wave forty feet high would probably destroy a half million lives before it dashed against the shores of Porto Rico with its million inhabitants."

OTHER BILLS

Beside the Municipal Code Introduced in the House, Contrary to Governor's Wish.

Columbus, Sept. 6.—If Governor Nash had any hope of holding down the legislature when he issued the call for the extraordinary session, the hopes were rudely blasted by the House Friday morning. Ten new bills were introduced, not one of which will add to the chances for the passage of the governor's code. Mr. Guerin dropped the revised Comings code into the hopper. Speaker McKinnon offered the proposed resolution to amend the constitution and Mr. McDonald started a movement to authorize a constitutional convention. The other bills touch many different subjects, from crematories to bicycle paths.

After the bills and resolutions had all been received, the House allowed itself to become wrapped up in a confusing wrangle over the employment of stenographers to report the proceedings of the special committee. Ten regular stenographers had been employed by the House at a salary of $5 per day but none of these were able to report the work of the committee. Two additional stenographers were engaged by the committee and a resolution by Mr. Comings to pay them $15 per day was held up, although the committee made an earnest plea for the additional help. Mr. Guerin took up the fight for the resolution, opposed by Messrs. Gear and Garrison. Messrs. Stage and Bracken came to Mr. Guerin's assistance and after a motion had been lost to place the resolution upon its passage at once, secured a reconsideration. The resolution was placed upon its passage and failed to receive the required number of votes.

Two more bills were expected by many but neither the Price code nor the Bonebrake school bill made their appearance. Representative Price said that he did not intend to introduce such a bill.

Adjournment of the House was taken to next Wednesday at 10 o'clock. This is to give the special committee two more days to consider the code bill and to make some kind of partial report. It is likely that at this time a movement will be set on foot to take the code away from the committee and place it in the hands of a committee of the whole.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The McKinnon resolution is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the general assembly of Ohio:

"Section 1. That a proposition shall be submitted to the voters of this state on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1903, to amend article 13, section 6, of the constitution of the state of Ohio, so that it shall read as follows:

"Article 13, section 6—The general assembly shall provide general laws for the organization of cities incorporated villages and hamlets and for that purpose may create not more than three classes of cities based on population, and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credit so as to prevent the abuse of such power.

"Section 3. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1904."

SENATE WAS SWIFT.

The Senate was in session about ten minutes Friday morning sitting as a committee of the whole. Senator Wirt, of Youngstown, presiding.

The various code bills were not taken up, though when the committee arose it reported "progress."

ATTACKED THE CODE.

R. W. Calvin, Solicitor of Ashtabula, attacked the Nash code for cities because of the great increase in expense that it would entail for smaller municipalities. In his town alone the expense would be increased $15,000 per annum. Quite a warm discussion took place between him and Mr. Cole. Mr. Calvin insisted that there are too many useless offices provided. He pointed out that the debt limit of 10 mills fixed in the code would not be sufficient in Ashtabula to raise the money to carry on the current expense of government and at the same time pay the salaries of the new officials.

Democratic Congressional Ticket.

THE STATE TICKET.

The Democratic state ticket nominated at Cedar Point is unquestionably a strong one. It is made up of clean men, men of the highest honor, integrity and ideals, who, if elected, will discharge the duties of their respective offices in a manner that will reflect great credit upon themselves and the party. Messrs. Bigelow, Donnelly, Bruck and Pater are all strong men of far more than so-called average ability.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow was, at one time, a newspaper reporter in Cleveland where Mayor Johnson knew him and recognized in him qualities, those he now considers desirable in the man who shall lead the ticket with which he is to make his first state campaign. Mr. Bigelow's speech of acceptance indicates that he is a good man to lead a campaign and that he will prove to be as vigorous a preacher of the principles of Democracy as he has been of those of religion from the pulpit of his Cincinnati church.

The nominee for dairy and food commissioner, Philip H. Bruck, is well known in the politics of central Ohio. He is an ex-mayor of Columbus, but unlike the usual run of Columbus mayors, he has a good record, the best, in fact, made in that capacity by any man, we believe, in the last score of years. Mr. Bruck is a German, of sturdy qualities, possessed of an unusually genial disposition, quick to make friends and is, consequently, a good campaigner.

Their home papers speak highly of Messrs. Donnelly and Pater, the other nominees of the convention and their friends are enthusiastic in their behalf and loud in their praises. If they were not remarkably strong and clean men they would not have been given places on the state ticket this year. As the campaign progresses, these gentlemen will become more widely known and they will certainly prove to be popular candidates.

About fifty new trusts have been organized since the President began his alleged campaign against combines.

WHEN IS TARIFF REFORM TIME?

When times are bad the beneficiaries of the law which taxes one citizen for the benefit of another cry that bad times are not the time for tariff reform.

In response to significant demands that the next congress shall take up the question of tariff reform the beneficiaries of the law which taxes one citizen for the benefit of another cry that an era of prosperity is not the time for tariff reform.

According to the beneficiary of the law which taxes the great mass of the American people to enrich a few, there is never a fit time to reform the tariff.

Now that Americans can buy American-made goods cheaper abroad than they can at home they have a new light on the timeliness of tariff reform.

The time to reform the tariff is when it needs reform.

After all the boasting we heard one month ago on the part of Mark Hanna and other Republican leaders about how Hanna's so-called civic federation was going to arbitrate all labor troubles, the anthracite coal strike still remains unsettled. Hanna isn't so anxious to settle the labor question as he is to get the labor vote for the trusts and monopolies.

Prosperity is an excellent thing, but it would be more enjoyable if the trusts didn't have the lion's share of it.

Helps to Trust Prosperity.
(New York World.)

The President in one of his New Hampshire speeches on prosperity told his hearers that "all the government can do is to create conditions under which prosperity can come. If the individual citizen lacks the thrift, the energy, the power, and the mind to work no laws will make him prosperous." Our paternal government, for example, so "creates conditions" for the steel trust through the Dingley tariff that it has charged and got $11 a ton more for rails in this market than in England, and other steel products in proportion. By the same law the beef combine is put in a position where it need fear no outside competition and can charge monopoly prices at home while selling lower to London in competition with meat from South America and Canada.

In the prehistoric ages, when the world was a ball of mist, A scorching wind of something unknown in the planets' list, When the earth was vague with vapor and the air was dark and wild, The sport of the wayward comet, the jibe of the asteroid, Then the singing stars of morning chanted soft: "Keep out of there! ## Senator Bailey's Stable.

Do you know the only "railbird" in the United States senate? Any morning during his periodical visits to Lexington he can be seen at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association track. He's Senator Bailey of Texas, the man who choked Beveridge. In Kentucky he is no longer orator, politician or pugilist. He is "the senator," railbird, horse trader, trotting enthusiast and pedigree expert. He has figured in the ranks of the breeders for several years. This year for the first time he will be extensively represented on the turf. He has engaged the noted trainer, Joe Lea, who comes fresh from his triumphs with that noted establishment, the Bitter Root stud of the late Marcus Daly. For the first time he has an entire farm leased for his brood mares and his stallion, the sensational Prodigal, 2:16, that he purchased at the Daily dispersal sale.

His favorite seat at the Lexington trotting track is a plain wooden plank nailed against the high outside fence above the three-eighths pole. This is just opposite his training barn, and here he sits under the shade of an overhanging tree and times his trotters. Every rubber, stable attendant, trainer, owner or breeder or visitor to the track knows the familiar figure in the blue broadcloth Prince Albert and the black slouch hat, and when he takes his position on the bench the word is passed around: "See the senator over there against the fence. Guess Joe'll step 'em up a little this morning."

Wrestler Jenkins' Plans.

Tom Jenkins, the champion American wrestler, has mapped out a number of engagements for next fall and winter, and if nothing goes amiss he will be kept quite busy. Besides matches with George Burlingame, Charley Whitman and an unknown, Jenkins will travel with a theatrical company and meet all comers. Jenkins says: "I have received it on good authority that Jack Carleek, the famous Englishman, is coming to America to meet me. If that is the case, he will find me ready. If the affair is held at Cleveland, I am sure that we would draw an exceptionally large house. Carleek is certainly a clever fellow, but I am sure that I will throw him."

Yacht Chat.

The Uncle Sam that beat John Bull's yachts at Kiel was designed by R. B. Crowninshield of Boston and built at Manchester, Mass. She is of the twenty-one foot oceanic type. George W. Wood's big steel cruising schooner Chanticleer has been much admired by Boston experts. Her owner is contemplating a long cruise.

Cyclists Have Their Troubles.

Kramer evolved a winner of the open championship race of the N. C. A., but it was proved to him that this year's circuit line is certain to be of a more strenuous nature than any previous one. As Eddie Bald has often remarked since he re-entered the game, "There are now six or seven men ready to fight you to the tape, whereas in years gone by I never seriously considered more than two men in a race."

Harvey's New "Phenom."

Fred Harvey, the theatrical promoter, who formerly piloted the affairs of Max Lubbe of St. Louis, says that he has a new French wrestler whom he wishes to pit against any lightweight in the business, not excepting Harvey Parker or George Bothner. ## A MODEL HOMESTEAD

BEAUTY IN HOUSES AND LAWNS TO BE TAUGHT BY UNCLE SAM.

Ideal Methods of Caring For Lawns. Laying Out Flower Beds, Adorning Paths, Etc., Will Be Shown on Government Reservation at Arlington.

A model rural homestead, serving as an object lesson in landscape gardening for people of moderate means, is a unique enterprise just conceived by Uncle Sam. Six acres of the government reservation at Arlington, across the Potomac from Washington, have been reserved for this novel purpose. Upon it will be erected a ten room frame house to cost $6,000.

The primary object of this ingenious experiment will be to teach at a glance ideal methods of grading, planting, cutting and watering lawns; of locating and adorning flower beds, paths and drives; of beautifying the porch, of screening out objectionable views, of locating trees; of covering outbuildings with vines; of doing all manner of things to make the exterior of the home beautiful.

The work of laying out this model homestead site, writes John Elfreth Watkins in the New Orleans Times Democrat, has been entrusted to Professor L. C. Corbett, horticulturist of the department of agriculture, a master in the fine art of landscape gardening. Taking his new enterprise as a text, this savant recently said:

"We will begin by laying out the lawn. To be effective it should always rise from the street to the house—should rise at least eighteen inches in each 100 feet of depth. A lawn should always be full in the center, never hollow, and should grade off gently to the level of the public walk in front, not ending there in an abrupt bank. Most people either cut their grass too close or let it go to seed between mowings. A lawn mower should be set high enough to leave one and a half or two inches of each blade of grass uncut; otherwise there will not be left sufficient leaf area for proper nourishment. Early in the summer lawns must be mowed often, with less frequency toward and during autumn. Few people know when to water their lawns. The hose should never under any circumstances be applied during full sunshine. Evaporation is then rapid, and each drop of water acts as a little lens or burning glass, focusing the sun's rays and actually scorching the grass blades. Commence to water your lawn toward sunset or during the night. Make this a rule, and your grass will look refreshed."

On a small city or town lawn the walk extending from the street to the front door should ordinarily be perfectly straight. Walks and drives should always be two or three inches below the surface of the surrounding lawn, so that when the eye passes over the grass it will see nothing but the expanse of greenward. The crowning center of a path or drive must never rise to the level of the lawn. A flower bed should never be located in the center of an expanse of front lawn or directly in front of the house. Flowers should be planted in the angles of the house between the porch and main structure, bordering lawns, in the back yard or between sidewalks and the house, but never, I repeat, to interrupt the expanse of greenward between the house and the street.

Now let us begin at the front of the house. If wild flowers are desired, you can get early effects from such species as trilliums, jacks-in-the-pulpit, phloxes or hepaticas. The last named are little, low growing white or blue flowers common now in the woods. These can be mixed with daisies for later effects and also with dwarf sunflowers and goldenrod to give the blaze of yellow so grand in the autumn. If you prefer the common bedding flowers, you can plant in the previous fall the early blooming pansies, tulips and hyacinths, followed by the colums, geraniums, scarlet sage, cannas, elephant's ears or castor beans. Plant at the sides of the porch steps. Arrange the tallest in the rear and bank these of lower growth in front. The porch should be covered with vines carried up in narrow columns to form arched openings conforming to the architecture. The great mass of vines should be near the eaves and should hang down, giving the graceful effect of drapery. The best vines for porch decoration are Boston ivy, five fingered ivy, actinidia and akebia, especially the last two, which are absolutely free from insect enemies.

The most artistic arrangement of porch boxes planted with flowers is to place them on a level with the outside of the hand rails, extending the series entirely around. They should be filled with low growing, hardy plants, such as geranium, lobelia, vinca and nasturtium, trained to fall over and trail. Outbuildings should be covered with vines. If they are of brick, this is an easy matter, but if of frame the problem is a trifle more difficult. For brick buildings Boston ivy is best north of Washington; English ivy, south. These vines will cling to the bricks, but on frame outbuildings supports must be provided for nearly all vines. There are two very excellent Japanese species, actinidia and akebia, to be recommended for the latter; also the native five fingered ivy and the bitter-sweet, common in the north. All of these serve well for covering fences as well as outbuildings. Rabbit netting wire affords them the best support.

Trees planted along the street should conform to its lines. In lawns and side yards tree planting should always be irregular and promiscuous, even along curved drives, but leaving in the middle of the lawn always an open space.

Fought His Way to the Front. General Arthur MacArthur, who succeeded General Brooke as commander of the department of the east, has a brilliant record as a soldier. He entered the service as a volunteer from Wisconsin. Before he was nineteen he was a major. General MacArthur is now fifty-seven.

"That will never do," returned the experienced neighbor. "You can't afford to start in married life that way."

"I know it," answered the young wife. "I've thought it all over, and when he comes home tonight I'm going to bring him to terms so quick that he'll hardly know what's happened."

"That's right, my dear. Show some spirit. What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to bring up the subject again and then cry."—Chicago Post.

A BAD SYMPTOM

Backache is the Forerunner of Fatal Organic Disease. Every Woman Who Has This Dreaded Symptom Needs Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Is it not true? Women suffer, feel the very life crushed out of them, grow old before their time. Each morning wake up determined to do so much before the day ends, and yet—

Before the morning is very old the dreadful BACKACHE attacks them, the brave spirit sinks back in affright; no matter how hard they struggle, the "clutch" is upon them and they fall upon the couch crying:

"Why should I suffer so? What can I do?"

The answer is ready, your cry has been heard, and a woman is able to restore you to health and happiness.

Backache is only a symptom of more fatal trouble—heed its warning in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will stop your torture and restore your courage. Your pains come from unnatural menstruation or some derangement of the womb. Let those who are suffering read Mrs. Morton's letter and be guided by her experience.

Two Letters About Backache.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for two years with my back and head. I doctored with the best doctors here but got little relief and at last thought I would try your medicine. I have found that it has done me more good than anything else I have taken. I should advise every suffering woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. FRANK BARRETT, 184 Pearl St., Springfield, Ohio. (Dec. 16, 1900.)

If you are sick write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Out of her vast experience she probably has the very knowledge that will make you well. It will cost you nothing.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For a long time I suffered with the backache, was also troubled with irregular menstruation and bearing down pains in the side and abdomen. I took some medicine but it seemed to do me no good. I was in a critical condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else I have used and I cannot praise it enough. If all suffering women would take your medicine there would be less sickness and weak women in the world."—MARGARET MAE COCHRAN, 177 E. Main St., St. Clairsville, Ohio. (July 28, 1900.)

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health more than a million women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of New York, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

MEMORIAL

OF THE LIFE AND DEATH OF MRS. CHARLES FOLLETT

Read at a Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian church was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ashbrook on South Fifth street. The following program was carried out: Hymn; Scripture Reading; Prayer; Roll-call and minutes of last meeting; Business Announcements; Paper; Nestorius, an Old World Bishop, Mrs. Dean, read by Miss Maylone; The Rise of Christianity in Central Europe, Miss Ball; Vocal Solo, Mrs. C. W. Miller; Missionary Items from Haenan, and Philippines, Mrs. Omar Crane; Music in Early Christian Work, Mrs. C. W. Miller. The program closed with the Lord's Prayer, repeated in concert. After the close of the program, a social hour was enjoyed, and refreshments were served.

At the August meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. Beecher, the following services were held, in memory of Mrs. Charles Follett: Two short months ago, as a Missionary society, we were called upon to mourn the death of one of our beloved members, whose "sun went down while it was yet day." Today we come to do honor to Mrs. Follett, whose years by "reason of strength" were more than four-score years. Her's was a life of active usefulness, she was always in her accustomed place when her health would permit, either at church service, prayer meeting, or any devotional meeting of the church of her adoption.

For many years she was associated with us both in the Missionary society, and in the Home Circle, of which she was an earnest and devoted member, until she was "called to come up higher."

She was the daughter of a Methodist minister, "Father Lewis," as he was familiarly called. One Sabbath morning, a few months ago, as she was leaving home for church, she received a fall, although no one for a time thought it would more than temporarily disable her, it became finally, the approximate cause of her death. She bore her sufferings with that Christian fortitude which characterized her all through life, always ready under all circumstances to say "Thy will be done." As she neared the valley of the shadow of death, she was sustained and comforted by that promise, precious to those who believe and trust the All-Wise, ever beneficent Father that only the shadow of death should for a time, surround her, after which she should enter into the glorious fruition of consecrated and enduring faith, the life everlasting. The noble characteristics of the Christian life of our departed sister which stood out prominently, were her quiet, submissive resignation to the Divine Will, and the bright and hopeful faith that even through chastening, and seeming overwhelming trial and sorrows, the Lord in His way and His own good time would cause all things to work together for good. This cheerful faith and willingness to sacrifice self found expression in many ways. In her reading, passages which were prolific of this attribute, found a ready response in her consciousness and Christian experience. As here this one found after her death marked by her own hand. "Let us be thankful, then, for every trial that will help to destroy our earthly chariot, and that will compel us to take refuge in the chariot of God which stands ready and waiting beside us in every event and circumstance of life. In loving devotion to kindred and friends, with true purpose of obedience to God, cultivated in mind, and adorned with many attractive graces, her's was a rarely beautiful character. Christ was "Her theme, her inspiration, and her crown, her light in darkness and her life in death. As these noble women are passing on, and their mantles are dropped, who will take up the work where they have left it? Our prayer is that God will raise up some of our young women to consecrate themselves and be ready to say, "Here am I, send me," so it can be said of us one and all, when the Master calls us home, "She hath done what she could."

Comments on Justice Shiras' Suggestion that Labor Organizations Should Be Incorporated.

President D. A. Hayes who spoke forcefully on the Eight hours law at Newark's Labor Day celebration last Monday, makes the following comment on Justice Shiras, of the Supreme Court, that labor organizations should be incorporated:

"In a legal sense, Justice Shiras may be correct, but the leading trade unions in the country have made agreements with the employers, first through a sense of honor, and secondly, because the labor unions have been struggling for more than 50 years to sell their labor to the employers through representatives, and the fact that associations of manufacturers have been meeting representatives of their employees and making wage contracts is one of the brightest hopes we have.

"I think it is the desire of Justice Shiras in having the labor organizations incorporated, to have this action followed up by a compulsory arbitration measure, to which every labor organization in this country is radically opposed, because strikes and lockouts could be enforced on organized labor. If they were incorporated or if there was a compulsory arbitration law, trades unions might be brought into court and shed for damages by the very power that forced them to go on strike. When we observe the utter indifference shown at the present time by the presidents of the coal carrying railroads to the rights of the miners, the laws of the state and humanity as well, we can form an idea of the poor chance labor organizations would stand in court when confronted by the tremendous power of capital. We know that the violation of the wage contract would injure the entire labor movement. Justice, honor and fair play are the only laws that we depend on in all matters of this kind."

WORK

Contractor Vadakin Puts Thirty Men at Work Rebuilding the Line to Granville.

Mr. Charles Vadakin who for many years was engineer of construction on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and who has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Newark and Granville electric road, informed an Advocate reporter that he would commence the work of distributing and laying the rail on Monday morning with a force of thirty men. Mr. Vadakin said that between thirteen and fourteen thousand ties would be used in the construction of the road, or 2,649 to the mile, and that he expects to have the road completed and in running order in three months. Sixty pound rails will be used. When completed the Newark and Granville road will be one of the finest electric roads in the state. A number of new cars, it is understood, are being built for the road, which will be commodious and up-to-date in every respect.

PUPILS' GOOD WORK

HOW SCHOOL CHILDREN MADE CARTHAGE, MO., BEAUTIFUL.

Prizes Awarded Each Year For the Prettiest Lawn, Most Successful Vegetable Garden and Most Attractive Flower Bed.

Carthage, Mo., leads the list of those towns and cities which have been made beautiful almost entirely through the work of their school children. Rochester, N. Y.; Cleveland, O., and St. Louis are also among the cities leading in this new movement for "the city beautiful." In almost all cases the school children have been appealed to not in vain for that enthusiastic, persistent and intelligent co-operation without which almost any effort of the kind must fail.

Professor J. W. Stevens, formerly superintendent of public schools in Carthage, was the originator and promoter of the movement in that city, says the New York Telegram.

"Every person who makes his own home more beautiful," said Mr. Stevens, "by the planting of vines, shrubbery and flowers is a public benefactor. Besides the good that comes to his own family, every passerby will be benefited by looking at something beautiful."

With this as his motto Mr. Stevens encouraged in every possible way the pupils of the Carthage public schools to raise flowers, vines, to plant shrubs and to start window boxes about their own homes. Prizes were offered for the best looking back yard, front yard, window box and garden, and the Federation of Women's Clubs in Carthage acted as the judges in awarding them for the first season. This was in 1900. So great was the success attending the effort and so hearty the interest and co-operation shown that at the beginning of last year's contest Mr. Stevens issued a letter to the pupils of Carthage public schools in which he said:

"Our efforts last year to improve the appearance of our homes and beautify our town were so successful that it seems proper for us to begin early this spring to plan for still better results. Those who took part in the contests last year felt well repaid for what they did. They learned that the soil will generously respond to good treatment and will yield flowers of beauty and fruits of value. Those who did not try to raise flowers and vines, if they undertake to do so, will learn many things of value about the soil and plants."

"On a few square feet of ground in our back yards we may raise fresh, crisp vegetables and thus decrease the family expenses. The boy who won the first prize last year sold more than enough to pay for all his work, besides supplying the family."

"In planting this year I hope that more of you will plant hardy climbers, as they have a more permanent effect and their foliage appears much earlier in the season than that of annuals."

"Last year the children of the public schools of Carthage received many favorable notices of their efforts to make their town more beautiful. Among those whom they heard are Mrs. Mary Rogers Miller, instructor in nature study, Cornell university, and Mrs. Francis Copley Seaver, landscape gardener, of Chicago."

"We have had dozens of letters inquiring how we did it. Several persons came here from a distance and made the tour of the town to see the work of our boys and girls. With all this recognition of our work surely it behooves us to do even better this year than we did last."

"Have you ever thought of the power for good that rests in the boys and girls of Carthage? If every child in Carthage will do his best this year to make his home more beautiful by the 1st of September, there will not be a more beautiful town or city in the world than Carthage. Will each of you decide that he will do his best toward securing this result? If all the families who have children in school make their homes beautiful, those who do not will try to make home beautiful if for no other reason than to be in fashion."

Notwithstanding the fact that last season was excessively dry, beautiful beds of flowers and luxuriant vines were to be seen in all parts of Carthage. With this year a number of prominent business men have readily responded to an invitation to give prizes for a window garden and lawn contest, now introduced for the first time. Thirty-six premiums are now competed for by the boys and girls of the town under certain specified conditions.

As to flower raising, the judges impose the following conditions: The flower beds must cover not less than sixty nor more than a hundred square feet. The condition and care of the bed, character of the bloom and general artistic appearance will be considered. In annual asters care should be taken to choose varieties that will reach about the same height and come to perfection at the same time. It would be well, when possible, to have more than one bed and exhibit the best one to the judges.

In this contest eight special prizes are given to asters and petunias, accordingly as they are raised, with or without access to hydrant water. In vine culture the features to be considered this season are luxuriance of growth, artistic arrangement of planting and training upon verandas, out-buildings, fenceposts, etc., or the successful screening of back yards and other unsightly objects. A lawn contest begun with this spring is an additional effort for the beautifying of the town confined not to the pupils of the school, but including as well all citizens of the town.

NEW SHORT STORIES

Held Court in the Smoker.

A writer in the New York Tribune tells of an unusual event which occurred in a passenger train in the Creek Indian Nation a few years ago. A certain United States commissioner was anxious to clear his docket before another session of the federal court. He did not live in the town where his court was situated and made the trip there at intervals of two weeks. Coming back from court one night he met on the train attorneys for each party in a felony case. The accused and witnesses were present. It was fortunate, indeed, that the prosecutor was along; not uncommon, however, for all lived in the same town up the road fifty miles. The astute judge saw how he was to be rid of that case in a hurry, so he convened court in the front part of the smoking car, installed the brakeman and conductor as bailiffs, and the case proceeded. Arriving at his station, the train was held five minutes to complete the pleas and rendition of a decision. It happened that the man was convicted, his sentence there pronounced, and the same train that took him a free man carried him on to prison condemned, his keeper being a deputy delegated to take him to prison.

Lady Dufferin's Quick Wit.

The late Lord Dufferin was known to his friends as one of the most charming of men. His friends were of both sexes. Indeed his platonic gallantries after he had reached the age when he could safely indulge them were quite unobscured. That this tendency upon the part of the noble spouse was the subject of amiable banter by Lady Dufferin is attested by a reminiscence of their sojourn in Rome when Lord Dufferin was British ambassador there.

There had been during the night a shock of earthquake in Rome, which naturally formed a topic at the ambassadorial dinner table next day. It turned out that every one had felt the shock excepting the ambassador, who had slept through it. "Oh, well," observed a guest, "the last trump would not waken Lord Dufferin." "No," assented the marchioness, and she added thoughtfully, "unless it happened to be the queen of hearts."

Betrayed by Trousers.

Thomas F. Costigan, familiarly known to hundreds of friends as "Fatty," who died recently in New York, had tried in vain almost every obesity cure under the sun except diet and exercise. He was ready to take anything in the way of medicine to reduce his weight and gave all the quacks a fair chance. He was a tremendous man, measuring 6 feet 8 inches around the abdomen. One night a policeman arrested two men going through the streets after midnight with a bundle of clothing. Selecting a pair of trousers from the lot, the policeman asked, "Where did you get these?" "Belong to my brother," answered the man. "There's only one man in New York who could wear those trousers," said the policeman, "and his name is 'Fatty' Costigan. Guess I'll lock you both up."

He did and then went to Costigan's house. He found the fat man and his family in bed, quite unaware that their house had been robbed and papa's trousers taken away. A bundle of silver and other pawnable household property was found in the back yard, which the burglars had intended to return for.

Joking With Mercers.

In the office of the supervising architect of the treasury is a very fine picture of St. Peter's at Rome. "What building is that?" asked Representative Mercer of Nebraska, who is chairman of the house committee on public grounds and buildings. "That," replied Architect Taylor, "is the front elevation of the new federal building at Blair, Neb."

They All Agreed.

"Here is a very remarkable thing," said a senator in the committee on military affairs. "What is it?" chorused his colleagues. "Here is a bill which has been reported upon by Adjutant General Corbin, Lieutenant General Miles and Secretary Root. The remarkable thing is that they all agree."

A GOOD ADVERTISEMENT.

Is the Work the British Doctors Are Doing at 100 W. Main street, by Giving their Services Free of Charge and Thus Demonstrating Their Ability to Cure Many Maladies that Are Called Incurable.

A staff of eminent physicians and surgeons from the British Medical Institute have, at the urgent solicitation of a large number of patients under their care in this country, established a permanent branch of the Institute in this city, Flat 2 Avatoz Plats, first floor, (west end entrance), 130 West Main street.

These eminent gentlemen have decided to give their services entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to all invalids who call on them for treatment between now and September 27th.

These services consist not only of consultation, examination and advice, but also of all minor surgical operations.

The object in pursuing this course is to become rapidly and personally acquainted with the sick and afflicted, and under such conditions will any charge whatever be made for any services rendered for three months, to all who call before Sept. 27th. The doctors treat all forms of disease and deformities, and guarantee a cure in every case they undertake. At the first interview a thorough examination is made, and if incurable, you are frankly and kindly told so; also advised against spending your money for useless treatment.

Male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal diseases, also varicose, ruptures, goitre, cancer, catarrh of the eye and cross eyes, all diseases of the rectum and skin, are positively cured by their new treatment. Cases requiring it are diagnosed by the X-Ray method.

The chief associate surgeon of the Institute is in personal charge. Hours, 9 to 8, Sundays, 10 to 1.

Wm. McCann, a member of the G. B. E. A., died at his home on Barclay street on August 29 after two years sickness of consumption. Wm. McCann was formerly of Wheeling, W. He later worked in Newark, O., Milwaukee, Wis., Belleville, Ill., and Muncie, Ind. He settled in Fairmount six years ago where he worked for the Wilson & McCulloch Co., until three years ago when he went into the saloon business. Mr. McCann leaves a widow and two children. Mr. McCann was 37 years old. His funeral which took place today, was largely attended by relatives and friends, and by two branches of the G. B. E. A., which turned out in a body, and the F. O. E. of which he was a member, besides many flints and L. A. 300 members. His family has the sympathy of all the glass workers of Fairmount. Interment was in Park cemetery.

LODGE NEWS

B. P. O. E.
Since the recent session the Grand Lodge of Elks at Salt Lake City, which is the National body, it was reported in the newspapers that on footing up the Grand Lodge accounts a shortage of $16,000 had been discovered. The following statement from George P. Cronk, the newly elected Grand Chancellor of the Elks contradicts this rumor:

"Regarding the funds of the organization, I have just returned from Meadville, Pa., where I have been checking up the accounts of the treasurer. I find that every dollar of the Elks' money is intact. There were some reports current with regard to the funds, and, not wishing to enter upon my new duties without knowing the status of the matter, I went personally to Meadville to check up the books. Of what transpired there I am not in a position to speak at this time, but may make a statement later. I went to Meadville because I was unable to secure by telegraph a verification of the report of the auditing committee.

"You may say that I found the books balanced and that the money of the organization was in proper hands."

Home Guards of America.
Newark Home, No. 13, met in regular session on Thursday evening, Sept. 4. The new deputy is getting in some good work among the members, and as a result ten applications were received at the last meeting. On Thursday evening, Sept. 11, a class of fifteen will be taken through the mysterious of the order, and after the work there will be a banquet and entertainment in honor of the new members. It is requested that every member of the Guard attend and assist in making this an evening of welcome. An invitation has also been extended to the Supreme Counselor to be here on that evening.

An Ohio grand lodge of the Elks is to be organized in November, when the Ohio Reunion association's executive committee will meet in Columbus. The nucleus of the new state body in the Ohio Reunion association, of which Columbus is a member. E. H. Archer, was elected president, at Newark, Thursday. That office in some degree relieves the disappointment felt at the Columbus lodge's failure to capture the silk banner for the largest attendance at the reunion. More than 200 members of the local lodge were in the parade, preceded by the Columbus national band, but that number was not a great enough percentage of the total membership to win the prize.—Columbus Press.

TOOK FIRST PRIZE

Licking County Wins the Decision for Having Best General Display of Farm Products.

Licking County as in everything else, has proven herself to be the banner county of the state in the excellence of her farm products. At the State Fair held in Columbus this week Licking County not only carried off first and second premiums on her products, but also carried off the first prize for the general display of farm products. The Columbus Dispatch contains the following regarding the matter:

Licking County won the first prize for the best general display of farm products after one of the hottest contests in year. The margin was only a fraction of a point, and the judges marked all of Thursday and the contest was so close that one of the judges refused to show his card.

The judges were George E. Scott, W. M. Nuesse and R. L. Tussing. The counties had agreed upon the following schedule of points and on this all the counties were gauged: Arrangement 15, wheat 10, grass and seeds 10, corn 10, rye, barley and buckwheat 5, squash and pumpkins 10, tobacco and wool 5, and miscellaneous.

On this basis the county exhibits were carefully gone over and the following was the result: Licking 84 1-10; Montgomery 83 1-3, Union 82 2-3; Wood 73, Loraine 72 1-10; Monroe 70 1-3, and Clarke 65 2-3.

The prizes were $100 for the first, $110 for second, $80 for third, $55 for fourth, $30 for fifth and $15 for sixth. County exhibits of farm products consisted of a complete and attractively arranged display of all the field and garden crops common to the county. Samples of corn in the ear and on the full stalk, grain threshed and in the straw. Exhibits were to be correctly named and labeled.

Specimens comprising the display were grown in the county represented. Of grain and seeds not less than one gallon of each variety was required. No product was older than growth of 1901, and not previously exhibited at State Fair.

There will be a meeting next Monday evening of importance to every member of the order

Late Fad For Girls.

To the instinctive money getting shrewdness of a juvenile native is due the birth of one of the most grotesque fads of the season, says a special dispatch from Atlantic City, N. J., to the Philadelphia North American. This is closely related to the chameleon fad of other seasons, the only real difference being that a "fiddler crab" is substituted for the lizard. "Fiddler crabs" are diminutive crustaceans not quite an inch in length, and their appearance is made horrible by the abnormal development of one claw. The little crustaceans are found in millions in the salt marshes and, unlike crabs, do not live altogether in water. The boy who started the fad took some of the "fiddlers," attached tiny brass chains and piers to them and found some buyers on the board walk. Now the girls all wear them.

CARNIVAL ENDS TONIGHT

Auto Drawing Takes Place at 10 O'clock Tonight—Figures Showing Attendance at Each of the Shows Up To and Including Thursday Night—A Big Success.

Today is the last day of the Elks' Carnival, which has had a most successful week. The weather has been perfect, the crowds large and every one has enjoyed himself all week. There remains tonight yet to see the big carnival, and in many respects it will be the most interesting of any this week. The principal feature will be the drawing of the automobile, which takes place at 10 o'clock, under the supervision of the committee selected for that purpose, consisting of Messrs. George A. Ball, H. C. Bostwick and W. L. Prout. The character and standing of these men is a guarantee of the absolute fairness of the drawing, and tickets may be secured up until the time of the drawing. Thousands of tickets have been sold, but only one person can get the machine. Your number may be called, and for a ten cent investment you may become the owner of this fine new $900 machine.

Miss Emma O'Brien, who presides at the automobile booth, has probably the largest number of chances of any individual ticket holder. Many persons who purchased tickets did so for the purpose of patronizing the Elks. Especially here this so of the many strangers here Thursday, and in numerous cases the purchaser had the tickets made out in Miss O'Brien's name so that she holds several hundred chances. This explanation is made voluntarily by the Advocate, before the drawing takes place so that there can be no hint of unfairness should one of Miss O'Brien's many numbers be drawn. While her chances are better than those of any other, every number held by her was duly purchased in the regular way.

The German Village, that popular resort of many during the week, will close after tonight, after a very successful business. Tonight will be your last chance to regale yourself at this place and see the very creditable vaudeville performance. This is also true of the other attractions including Fair Japan, The Girl from Up There, Dodo the snake eater, The Cingalese, and others.

Any one who don't see Fair Japan, the Pony and Dog Show, The Girl from Up There, and Esau, will have missed the best features of the Carnival.

The attendance at the Elks' street fair up until Thursday night is given below. These figures do not include any complimentary, but are what were paid for and the proceeds divided 20 per cent to the Elks Lodge 80 per cent to the Bostock company.

Of this amount the local Elks receive 20 per cent, or $977.49.

POPE CONFIRMS APPOINTMENT

OF THE RT. REV. JOHN FARLEY

Rome, Sept. 6.—The Pope has confirmed the appointment of the Right Rev. John M. Farley, as archbishop of New York, in succession to the late Archbishop Corrigan, and of the Rt. Rev. George Montgomery, bishop of Los Angeles, California, as coadjutor to the Most Rev. Patrick William Riordan, archbishop of San Francisco, the latter with the right of succession.

Archbishop Riordan is expected to reach Rome shortly, both the Pope and the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Rampolla, desiring verbal information regarding the Pious fund question now before the international court of arbitration at The Hague.

Mgr. Vecchia, secretary of the propaganda, at an audience which he had with the pontiff today, submitted a full report of the proceedings of the congregation of the propaganda, September 1 and the Pope immediately approved the appointments of Bishops Farley and Montgomery, saying: "I hope I have satisfied the Catholics of New York."

THE COAL STRIKE

Should be Settled by Republican Politicians, Says Roosevelt—Government Will Take No Action.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6.—While President Roosevelt's car was in the sheds of the Broad Street Station here yesterday afternoon the President for the first time went into discussion of the anthracite strike. He said:

"I am grieved beyond measure at the difficulty in Pennsylvania and other coal-producing states over the wage and kindred questions."

"Is there no remedy?" he was asked.

"Yes, there is a remedy," he responded.

"Will the United States interfere in any capacity, save that of a law-preserving body?"

"No," said the President, decidedly. "What can be done?" was asked.

"I would rather refer you to the men of the Republican party who are at the head of affairs in Pennsylvania," he replied.

"I am sure that their conservative opinion and good offices in the present difficulties will ultimately result in an amicable settlement of the question."

"Of course, politics does not enter into the mining problem, yet I hope that Republican principles are alike for high and low will level the ground."

PAINE'S Celery Compound

Permanently Cures Sick and Nervous Headaches that Make Life Miserable.

Sick and nervous headaches are amongst the worst ills of life. The man or woman who is subject to headache at irregular intervals, goes through life bearing a load of misery and wretchedness that is terrible to think of.

Headaches as a rule, result from a disordered condition of the nervous system. Mental excitement, loss of sleep, bodily fatigue, and disordered digestion are exciting causes. When the brain becomes tired and debilitated, the whole nervous system is weakened, and headaches result. If the liver is sluggish, the kidneys inactive, the digestion deranged, headaches invariably follow. To cure and prevent headache, the nervous system must be strengthened and vitalized. The most persistent cases of headache, nervous feebleness and sleeplessness, are permanently cured by Paine's Celery Compound; it is the great reconstructant of the nervous system. Mrs. Henry Westrick, St. Clair, Mich., tells of her release from suffering as follows:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia and sick headache for a number of years. About every week I would have a bad spell of sick headache, but since I began using Paine's Celery Compound, my dyspepsia is gone, and I do not have any more headaches. I feel better than I have for years."

A Plucky Mayor.

Mayor John Hinchliffe of Paterson, N. J., who rose to the occasion during the strike disturbances in that city by suspending his chief of police, taking personal command of the force and ordering his men to shoot the anarchists, is noted for his quick action and good judgment under trying circumstances. Mayor Hinchliffe is an American, a native of New York city and fifty-two years of age. He is 5 feet 10 inches in height and weighs about 175 pounds.

NATURAL HISTORY.

Ostriches live to the age of about sixty years.

The manarin duck is one of the most beautiful of aquatic birds.

So voracious is the cod that it will swallow anything it sees in motion.

An eel has two separate hearts. One beats 60, the other 160, times a minute.

A ladybird can travel 20,000,000,000 times its own length in an hour. In that time a snail can only travel fifty times its own length.

There is no country in the world in which the raven is not found to be native; it is also the only bird known to ornithologists which is of such cosmopolitan character.

Only one existing reptile can sustain itself in the air. This is the flying dragon of the East Indies. It has no real wings, but can glide from tree to tree like a flying squirrel.

The common house fly usually produces the note P in flying. To do so it must vibrate its wings 335 times a second. The honey bee sounds A, which means that its wing vibrations are 440 to the second.

TWO PERORATIONS.

From Hay's Eulogy on McKinley and Blaine's Eulogy on Garfield.

It is a curious coincidence that, on Feb. 27, 1882, and on Feb. 27, 1902, a secretary of state of a murdered president delivered a eulogy of his dead chief before the houses of congress. Mr. Hay, primarily a writer, showed the essayist in his oration on McKinley. Mr. Blaine, primarily a speaker, showed the orator in his oration on Garfield. Here is the peroration of Hay's eulogy of McKinley:

There is not one of us but feels proud of his native land because the august figure of Washington presided over its beginnings; no one but vows it a tender love because Lincoln poured out his blood for it; no one but feels his devotion for his country renewed and kindled when he remembers how McKinley loved, revered and served it, showed in his life how a citizen should live and in his last hour taught us how a gentleman could die.

Blaine's oration on Garfield ended with this famous passage:

As the red dawn near his early craving for the sea returned. The stately mansion of power had been to him the war-some hospital of pain, and he begged to be taken from his prison walls, from his oppressiveness, stifling air, from its hopelessness and its hopelessness. Gently, silently, the love of a great people bore the pale sufferer to the towered halls of the sea to live or to die, as first should will, within sight of the waving billows, within sound of its manifold voices. With a wan, fevered face, tenderly lifted to the cooling breeze, he looked out wistfully upon the ocean's vastness and murmured, on his far side, on its crest, as waves rolled shoreward to break and die beneath the moonlight, on the red clouds of evening, and, as the horizon of the sea rose and fell, as the path of the stars, I saw that the dying face and a mystic smile which only the rarest and the bravest know. Let us believe that in the end of the journey we will be found the great waves breaking on a further shore and that already up a his vessel knew the breath of the eternal morning.
